

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/10004/toast-messenger-concept-bread-memos>

The toast messenger concept - memos via breakfast

"Bread's off, can you buy some today?"

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 7 September 2007

The toast messenger concept lets you communicate with your fellow-dwellers via bread mail as a message scribbled on the top of the toaster gets burnt onto the bread.

Cute, but surely they'd have already read the message whilst waiting for their toast to brown?

