

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/10020/fly-mobile-sl100-mobile-phone>

Fly Mobile to launch £75 touchscreen slider

SL 100 looks classy, is cheap

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 7 September 2007

Due to be launched soon, we've been given a sneak peak of Fly Mobile's latest offering - the SL 100.

A GPRS slider handset, that's a 240 x 320 pixel, 262k colour TFT touchscreen. It boasts a video-capable 2-megapixel camera, measures 15mm thick and will cost you less a ton.

Features will include an MP3/music and video, TV-out so you can watch your clips on your television, an FM radio that can record and schedule record, Bluetooth and WAP as well as Java games and applications.

Total measurements come in at 96 x 49 x 14.9mm, it weighs a smidgen over 100 grams, offers 4 hours talk time, 180 on standby.

Pricing and network to be confirmed - the SL 100 will launch in October for what we suspect will be around the £75 mark.

