

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/10413/hannsg-hg216dp-22-inch-widescreen-monitor>

HANNSG HG216DP 22-inch widescreen monitor with HDMI

For £168.67

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 27 September 2007

The new 22-inch widescreen HD ready monitor, the HG216DP, from HANNSG will set you back £179, which is a rather nice price, so do the specs match up?

It certainly looks alright in terms of styling, nothing that's offensive to our eyes, anyway. It can be wall-mounted with a VESA bracket should you so wish to go down that route.

More importantly, the HD ready part comes in the form of an HDMI input and 1680 x 1050 resolution capable of displaying 16.7 million colours.

The 1000:1 contrast ratio is good, the 300cdm2 brightness is fine, and the 5ms response time, although not perhaps good enough for uber-serious PC gamers, is respectable.

A 160 degree viewing and 20 degree tilt angles are adequate for desk use and it boasts as anti-glare finish.

Although the RRP is £179, the current price on Misco shows as £168.67 - including VAT - which might seem rather tempting...

