NekFIT - gives you iPods on the back on your head

Would you Nek it?

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 2 October 2007

The nekFIT range is a new innovation in iPod holders designed to give you hands-free freedom for sporty-type activities.

Around $35, and in different colours, we can't help thinking that existing arm-band solutions have got this area covered.

Not to mention the (slightly unpleasant) fact that backs of necks can get a bit sweaty during exercise...
