PED3 rotating stand for iPhone

Stands and delivers

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 9 October 2007

If, like us, your enthusiasm for the UK launch of the iPhone has dwindled slightly with Apple's aggressive attack on unlockers and third party apps, we wonder if you, like us, can't help but feel desire for the device ratch up a notch when gazing on this iPhone holder.

This $40 device, called the PED3, just seems to make sense with an iPhone clamped in its plastic grip and we're not sure the same effect could be had with an admittedly open, yet less lovely, smartphone.

The company who produces the product, Thought Out (who also make iPod cradles) do ship to the UK, as well as internationally, so get one on order in time for the iPhone's UK release...
