USB blender alarm clock from Brando

But does it blend?

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 29 October 2007

The new USB Blender alarm clock from Brando is described as "a unique blend of eye-pleasing retro-style, high tech functionality, and pureed whimsy".

It shreds, dices, liquefies, and plays an assortment of 1970s game-show jingles at the same time.

Random? Hell, yeah! But possibly the best $25 you'll spend this side of Christmas...
