XC60 set for UK debut at MPH show

Muscular Volvo concept on the way

by Jonathan Goddard published on 29 October 2007

The Volvo XC60 concept, a crossover SUV, will make its UK debut at the MPH motor shows in London and Birmingham in November.

Expected in UK showrooms early in 2009, the XC60 was first unveiled at the Detroit show in January. New design cues such as the sculptured tail lights, broad shoulders and an enlarged version of the classic iron mark on the front grille will mark the XC range of Cross Country Volvos for the next few years.

MPH visitors will also have the opportunity to view the new Volvo V70 and XC70 premium estates plus the funky C30 SportsCoupe and the Volvo S40 saloon in new R-Design Sport spec.
