J-Lo releases album on luxury USB flash drive

Made out of posh wood, wants $70 for it

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 5 November 2007

Jennifer Lopez has teamed up with luxury handset manufacturer Gresso to offer a limited edition wood grain flash drive, complete with a copy of her new album preloaded.

The drive will come in either African Blackwood, or African Mahogany and will set fans (and we say "fans" as surely no casual consumers will fall for this nonsense) back $70.
