Nokia N82 coming in 24 hours?

Will we finally see official launch of much-rumoured N-series device?

We've cried wolf on this one a few times now, but we could be just over 24 hours off from seeing the launch of the rumoured N82 from Nokia.

BGR has spotted a section of the Nokia site containing little more than a ceremonious red curtain, a countdown timer that is set to expire on Wednesday afternoon, and the Nokia N-Series logo.

If this is counting down to the launch of the N82, it should be worth the wait - speculation has granted the new handset with a 5-megapixel camera, with Xenon flash and autofocus lens, a 2.4-inch QVGA display, Bluetooth and Wi-Fi, integrated GPS, an FM tuner and a microSD memory card slot.

We'll keep you informed...
