

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/11277/packard-bell-compasseo-700-series>

Packard Bell Compasseo 700 series satnavs launched

Budget offerings in time for Christmas

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 13 November 2007

Packard Bell has launched the Compasseo 700 series of GPS systems.

The Compasseo range incorporates the 750, 750T+ and 780T+, offers a full colour, antiglare, 4.3-inch touchscreen and a free, lifetime subscription to TrafficLive Plus for the two higher-end models.

UK maps come as standard while maps covering Germany, France, Benelux or Italy, and a range of other European destinations, can be bought for around £40 from the Packard Bell website.

All models within the Compasseo 700 series boast up to 3-hours battery life and have the ability to play MP3s, MPEG 4s, WMAs and view JPEG images.

Prices start from £129.99, available to purchase from www.packardbell.co.uk.

