Creative confirms 32GB Zen MP3 player

Capacity overload

by Katie Scott published on 7 December 2007

It seems rumours last month of a 32GB version of the Creative Zen MP3 player were true.

The 32GB ZN-Z32G-BK is now available in Japan for 39,800 JPY (around £176).

This credit card sized player can store up to 8000 songs.

It joins the existing 4GB, 8GB and 16GB versions.

Rumours of a 32GB model first starting flying after it was shown, probably by mistake, on the Creative website in late November.

Creative had already, by that time, made a name for itself as the first company to launch a 16GB flash-player, and this latest launch is again sure to turn heads.
