

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/11926/itech-islider-bluetooth-headset-launches>

I.Tech launches i.Slider Bluetooth headset

To match your slidin' phone

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 3 January 2008

The new i.Slider Bluetooth Headset is the first i.Tech headset that comes with a sliding cover that allows users to answer and end calls via this interface.

Perfect to match your slidin' handset, it's a lightweight 9.5 grams and claims to allow you to wear comfortably throughout the day, while the multipoint technology enables you to connect with two mobile phones at the same time.

Talk time of 4 hours and standby of up to 80 hours are respectable stats for a fashionable offering - it's available in "stylish silver" and "purple black".

