CES 2008: JVC iPod Bluetooth transmitter launched

Wirelessly connect your iPod to your headphones

by Stuart Miles published on 6 January 2008

JVC has launched a Bluetooth transmitter for Apple iPod users at CES in Las Vegas.

The new AA-T100BT Bluetooth transmitter is compatible with fourth-generation and newer iPod players, plugging directly into the iPod dock connector to transmit audio to any Bluetooth headset.

Powered by the iPod itself there is no bulky battery pack required.

The JVC AA-T100BT is available now and will cost around $80.00. No word on UK pricing as yet.
