CES 2008: Portable karaoke machine from SingMaxx

With twin MIC set up by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 8 January 2008

On display at CES from one of the smaller exhibitors, SingMaxx's 520 portable karaoke player will let wannabe pop stars croon on the go.

The gadget features a 2.4-inch TFT screen, comes embedded with Windows Media Player for managing audio and music files and features AV-out so you can connect it to a bigger system.

Available in black with yellow, black with orange and the girl-friendly shade of pink, it also has two MIC-in interfaces for duet singing. There is no escape...
