

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/12614/hoverit-gravity-defying-lounger-hover-chair>

Hoverit launches a magnetic hover chair

Gravity-defying lounger

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 4 February 2008

"Float away your stress on our unique suspended lounger" is the pitch behind this new futuristic furniture.

British Company Hoverit Ltd has introduced "The Lounger", which is the first of their revolutionary magnetic "hover" furniture range.

Boasting British design, precision engineering and built by British hands, it's enough to bring patriotic tears of joy to your eyes.

Defying gravity with the use of repelling magnetic forces in both the bed and base this contemporary lounger something a little different for your den.

The claim is that the sensation you feel as you lay back and close your eyes is "totally different, like floating on a cloud".

Just make sure you take your keys out of your pocket first ... prices on application.

