WEBSITE OF THE DAY - famundo.com

A family-friendly online calendar

by Ian Hughes published on 14 February 2008

Life can be hectic and many of us are utterly dependent on modern technology just to get through the day. Mobile phone, PDA, laptop - you name we're hopeless without it.

It's fair to say that if you're office-based, you're probably fairly intimate with your desktop calendar. How many times have you wished you could get your whole family or circle of friend hooked up to it too?

This might be what you've been wishing for.

Famundo is an online calendar that you can share with friends, family or colleagues so that you're all on the same virtual page when it comes to important occasions and social gatherings.

It's great for clubs and organisations who need a shared resource and best of all it's free.

No excuse for missing Granny's birthday now is there...?
