Going for the tough but stylish approach

Headset maker Jabra has shown off its latest Bluetooth headset at the Mobile World Congress in Barcelona, Spain.

The JX20 Pura - Titanium Edition follows on from the company's JX10 headset and is designed by Jacob Jensen.

Aimed at customers looking for that little bit extra, rather than something that's cheap and cheerful, the brushed anodised titanium headset features Bluetooth 2.0 connectivity, an ear hook and ear bud inserts.

Offering auto-pairing for easy connectivity to your mobile phone, the company says that users will be able to get up to 6 hours of talk time from a single charge.

No word on UK pricing as yet however in the US it is likely to cost around $180.

We will keep you posted.
