

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/13097/uniross-offers-eco-battery-range>

Uniross goes really green with new batteries

Planet-saving power

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 27 February 2008

Uniross is telling us the eco-friendly way to enjoy your gadgets is via their new range of rechargeable batteries.

Apparently more powerful and more convenient than ever, you can now use the batteries straight out of the packet, just like a throwaway battery, but when they run out you can juice 'em up, up to 1000 times.

The new Uniross range includes 14 different types of batteries and 16 chargers and adding to those eco credentials, comes in 100% recycled and recyclable packaging and is fully endorsed by the WWF.

The new range offers sizes from AAA to D and 9V and is available now in all good retailers.

