

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/13318/clever-stuff-launches-disgo-plus>

Disgo Video Plus launches

Super simple camcorder gets a flip out screen

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 7 March 2008

Clever Stuff has revamped its "world's easiest digital video camcorder" with the launch of the Disgo Video "Plus".

The web-quality (it records VGA quality 640 x 480 pixels) pocket-sized camcorder has some new additions from the previous model, including a 1.5-inch flip-out colour display for easier self-recording.

Powered by two AA batteries, the Disgo Video Plus can record video to its internal memory for up to 60 minutes. An additional 4 hours recording is available through external memory card (SD/MMC). There's also a 2x digital zoom, built-in microphone and speaker.

With its retractable USB connector, connection to a PC requires no cables and video clips are automatically saved into a standard video format (AVI).

The new camcorder - available for under £70 - is now on sale at Currys.digital stores and online at currys.co.uk.

