

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/13483/wall-mounted-ipod-shuffle-holder>

Wall-mounted iPod shuffle holder

Ready to grab and go

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 17 March 2008

We like this super simple contraption.

It's a black laser cut acrylic gizmo that allows you to attach your shuffle on the side and to stick the headphones into the two holes.

It sits about half an inch away from the wall and comes with removable adhesive strips that allow you to position and reposition it over and over.

That's it, basically, there's no tech to marvel over, but it has a cool, clean design and would mean easy grab and go action as you're walking out the door.

19 euros (about £15) it's only on sale for a limited time.

