VIDEO: Megawhat.tv plays Wii Fit and tries out a gaming vest

Plus, more on the new CoD4 downloads...

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 31 March 2008

Megawhat.tv, the WebTV channel from the world of technology and gadgets brought to you in conjunction with Pocket-lint.co.uk, has a new episode waiting and ready to view now. In this week's episode of Megawhat presenter Stuart Miles finds out that he's more pork scratching than human thanks to Nintendo's new Wii Fit gaming system with a sneak preview of the kind of sofa-beating games it will offer. Katie Scott finds out more about the forthcoming Call of Duty 4 map downloads and 3rd Spaces' force feedback vest gets a thorough testing - does feeling the gun-shots make an FPS more engaging? If you're reading this from Pocket-lint.co.uk, you can catch up with your favourite gadget show now by hitting play in the video screen above, or follow the link below or even hop over to www.megawhat.tv to check it out now.
