Creative announces the TravelSound i80 docking speaker designed especially for the iPod nano.

Describing the new device as "sleek, stylish and versatile", it's a portable system designed for listening on the move.

Small enough to fit in your pocket, the i80 has a rechargeable battery that you can juice up via USB for 15 hours of playback.

The USB connectivity also allows for transfer of music, photos and video and it can charge your 'pod whilst docked too.

Specs-wise there's four micro drivers and digital amplifier for "superior" audio quality while the adjustable speaker stand allows users to view photos or movies at optimum angle.

Available in an aluminium design finish, the TravelSound i80 is £49.99, available now.
