LEGO Brick MP3 player launches

Block party?

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 9 April 2008

This cute'n'colourful little LEGO-style MP3 player may break a few international patent laws but we can't help but want one.

Offered in five different primary-coloured hues, it supports microSD flash memory cards up to 2GB in size and hooks up to your PC via USB.

MP3 and WMA files are supported for playback and a full charge via said USB means you're good to go for between 6 and 10 hours.

We especially like the way the controls have been designed into the brick shape, with directional buttons, etc, on the raised LEGO bumps ... the Brick MP3 Player costs $50, and is available now from GizFever.com.
