Megawhat.tv, the WebTV channel from the world of technology and gadgets brought to you in conjunction with Pocket-lint.co.uk, has a new episode waiting and ready to view now.

In this week's episode of Megawhat presenter Stuart Miles asks the question whether you should opt for the entry-level Canon 450D or the beginner professional digital SLR the 40D.

Plus there's a rant about online shopping, and an insider tip about printing wirelessly.

If you're reading this from Pocket-lint.co.uk, you can catch up with your favourite gadget show now by hitting play in the video screen above, follow the link below or even hop over to www.megawhat.tv to check it out now.

UPDATE: In the video I say that both cameras have the DIGIC 2 processor - in fact, they have the DIGIC 3 processor.
