Lego builders unpack iPhone

Might be a bit slow though

by Stuart Miles published on 25 April 2008

While some sites reveal in the excitement of an unboxing of the latest product we can't say that we are normally that bothered here at Pocket-lint.

Unless you are under 5 there isn't too much exciting about a box. However this time, this one made us chuckle.

Photographer ntr23 over at Flickr has captured a troop of Lego builders slowly but surely unpacking Apple's iPhone.

Perhaps it's memories of the mice in children's classic Bagpuss that got us smiling, either way where's that chocolate digestive.
