Toshiba reveals new notebook - the Portege M800

Autumn release promised

by Katie Scott published on 8 May 2008

Three new Portege tablets PCs were announced by Toshiba at the end of last month, and now the company has come in with a new notebook.

The Portege M800 features a 13.3inch TrueBrite widescreen WXGA (resolution: 280 x 800), and is built around an Intel Core 2 Duo T5750 (2GHz) CPU, Intel GMA X3100 video card, 250GB of HDD, and 1GB of RAM.

Also worth a mention are its DVD SuperMulti drive, Wi-Fi and Bluetooth capabilities.

There's no price as yet nor a release date but we do know that the laptop will arrive in Europe for the third quarter of 2008.

Keep watching this space and we'll get you more details as soon as they are available.
