

Pocket-lint gets commenting

Have your say on our stories

by Stuart Miles published on 15 May 2008

It's good to comment on things isn't it? What's the weather like? What rumours are around on the Internet? Or even what you think of a story we've written.

Well now you can on all news and reviews stories on Pocket-lint. That's right, we've added comments to news and reviews.

So what can you do? Well, from now on you can comment on stories just by typing a few words.

If you're a Pocket-lint member it's incredibly easy. Your comment will be saved to your user profile allowing you to view it, keep a track of what you are saying around the site and even delete it if you change your mind.

If you're not a member, hey don't worry, you can still comment either by signing up, or if that's not to your liking (and we're not sure why as you get load of extra features like news alerts, personalised homepage and much more), or by simply typing in your name, your email (which we don't publish) and your country and it will be posted live as soon as you hit submit.

So what are you waiting for? Be part of the conversation.
