Outdoor solar light bottle cap launches

DIY LED lamp

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 15 May 2008

The LightCap 200 is a clever, weatherproof light that turns your water bottle into a solar powered lantern.

The cap fits on any standard water bottle with a 2-inch wide mouth, including those from Nalgene, Camelbak and GSI and claims to be the lightest, brightest LED cap available.

On sale now in the US, it's available in a couple colours for $20.
