

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/14724/shinoda-125-inch-curved-plasma-screen>

Sit back for Shinoda's 125-inch curved plasma screen

But who has a house big enough?

by Katie Scott published on 16 May 2008

It may be smaller than its 142-inch big brother, but the latest PTA display from Shinoda is still a whopping 125 inches.

The curved prototype model comprises three PTA (plasma tube array) modules connected together.

Although the resolution is just 960 x 360, you have to consider that this is a 3 x 1m display which weighs 7.9 pounds and is just 1mm thick.

And apparently it's going to go into mass production soon so start salivating.

