

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/14961/jabra-jx20-pura-titanium-edition>

Jabra JX20 Pura headset launches

New Jacob Jensen designed effort for a ton

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 28 May 2008

GN has introduced the Jabra JX20 Pura - Titanium Edition Bluetooth headset, "designed for the luxury lifestyle".

Jabra says this headset, previewed at the Mobile World Congress event earlier in the year, "focuses on authentic materials, intuitive technology, outstanding comfort and excellence in audio, to enhance and simplify the life of luxury".

Jacob Jensen has designed the device which offers a brushed anodised titanium body offset by a deep-black, high-gloss trim.

The Jabra JX20 Pura weighs less than 13 grams, the two size ear-piece rotates to switch the device on and off while a white-light LED indicates status.

The headset offers up to 6 hours of continuous talk-time, charging via USB, Digital Sound Processing and auto pairing and will be available from the Carphone Warehouse in June for £99.

