

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/15028/apple-3g-iphone-picture-leak>

Apple lets slip 3G iPhone design

Could icon give away new design?

by Stuart Miles published on 29 May 2008

Apple has inadvertently leaked an image of what could be the new iPhone in its OS update 10.5.3 released earlier this week.

The icon, found deep inside the Operating System, implies the new iPhone rumoured to be launched in June, will sport a thin bezel, will be narrower and is much squarer than the current model.

Apple mistake or just an icon graphic drawn badly? We will keep you posted.

