New Yamaha speakers boast built-in light

Illuminating home cinema

We're quite taken with these new speakers from Yamaha, the YST001, that have just seen a Far East launch.

The speakers offer built-in, remote controlled lighting that appears to offer an Ambilight-ish effect around your TV, or presumably could be used as hidden mood lighting when you're not goggle-boxing.

Not much is known about the spec at this stage, but pricing is said to be around the 800 euro mark - about £630.
