The Wilkerson 1950s TV

Retro design but modern tech

by Katie Scott published on 13 June 2008

It may boast a 42 inch plasma screen, but the M21 Flat Panel would not look out of place in a 1950s home being watched by a man in slippers, smoking a pipe.

The design by Joe Wilkerson is just a concept at the moment, but should it draw enough interest, it could soon be seen in trendy shops around the country.
