

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/15731/digital-time-clock-freddie-yauner>

Digital Time concept shows time down to a millionth of a second

Bang goes any excuse for being even a second late

by Katie Scott published on 27 June 2008

Why you would need to know the time down to a millionth of a second is completely beyond us, but The Digital Time concept by Freddie Yauner at least looks quite funky (in a timer-on-a-bomb in a bad 80s action film kind of way).

Perhaps it's the perfect pressie for the exec with the ultimate pay package and actually not much to do, so that they can sit there watching the milliseconds flash by, and count the pennies they are earning as each number changes.

Very Gordon Gecko.

