Thanko launches MP3 streaming device

Share music over 10m

by Katie Scott published on 1 July 2008

Thanko has released a new MP3 streaming device called the i2i Stream.

What's special about this latest launch is that it allows you to share what you're listening to with your friends within a 10m radius.

All you have to do is plug your MP3 player into the i2i Stream which provides a frequency response of 10-24,000Hz, and a bit-rate of 16bit at 48kbps Stereo (so it basically transmits your music).

It'll set you back 89 euros.
