Tiny remote control cars launch

Super small

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 4 July 2008

Gadget4All says their new remote control "mini car" range is the smallest racing car "you have ever seen".

A bold boast but the car's dimensions come in at 35 x 25 x 20mm so they certainly are wee.

The car is stored inside the sports-themed ball which also works as the controller.

Basketball, baseball, "soccer" and tennis versions available now for $12.99 each.
