Dell has launched its latest range of all-in-one inkjet printers. The company says V105, V305, and V305w feature easy-to-use print, copy and scan capabilities in compact designs.

Aimed at home and home office users, the V-family printers also offer photo printing options including borderless photo printing up to 5- by 7-inch in both colour and black and white.

The V305 and V305w get direct photo printing via memory card slots, PictBridge, and USB memory devices - with or without connection to a computer - and photo-editing capabilities, including red-eye reduction.

In addition, the V305w has an integrated wireless function that means it will print anywhere within your wireless network.

The V105 is on sale for £39.99, the V305 is £59.98 and the V305w is £74.99.
