Epson announces P-7000 and P-6000 photo viewers

Laptop replacement for photographers on the go

Epson has announced two new generation multimedia photo viewers that have been designed with photographers on the go in mind.

The P-6000 and the P-7000 offer photographers the opportunity to download and view their photos on a 4-inch, 640x480 (VGA) resolution LCD screen, while also offering them the peace of mind of a compact, on-location back-up for their images.

The screen on the two new viewers has been advanced to a new benchmark compared to previous models, with the introduction of Photo Fine Premia. Adobe RGB colour space is now increased to 94% coverage, rather than the 88% in previous models.

Download speeds are also up to 35% faster than previous models for added productivity. With hard drive capacities of 80GB in the P-6000 and 160GB in the P-7000, thousands of even RAW image files can be backed up wherever images are captured for peace of mind and security.

With a user-friendly interface, Epson's multimedia photo viewers give on-the-go photographers the ability to zoom in on both RAW and JPEG images, confirm histogram data and create custom folders - all without needing to bring a laptop to remote, or even hostile locations.

Both models also support video and audio file storage and playback, but a little exclusive for the P-7000 only is a Travel Pack including dual battery charger and car adapter for enhanced portability.

Both models will be available in September for an estimated street price of $599.99 for the P-6000
