WEBSITE OF THE DAY - flock.com

Are you a social network butterfly?
Here's the browser for you

by Ian Hughes published on 14 August 2008

A great new browser here for those who spend a lot of their web time utilising social networks and media sharing sites.

Flock, based on the Firefox platform, adds a whole raft of functions to make keeping track of your various accounts much simpler by keeping them all in one browser window.

We like it and it has become the browser of choice for quite a few of us Pocket-lint staffers.
