

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/17003/intempo-internet-ipod-speaker-radio>

Intempo RDi-W adds Internet radio to iPod Speaker

No DAB though

by Stuart Miles published on 19 August 2008

It's all about internet radio this month as yet another manufacturer joins the fray. This time news comes from Intempo of a new iPod speaker with internet radio capabilities.

Missing out on supporting DAB, the Intempo RDi-W will offer an iPod speaker system and dock, internet and FM radio tuner.

Coming in a high gloss black finish to match half of the Apple iPod's available, the RDi-W will be on sale from the end of September from Amazon retailing at around £169.99.

On the tech side of thing the RDi-W will feature a 30 watt speaker and an integrated subwoofer, while the internet radio can be accessed via the LAN connection or wirelessly.

The RDi-W will also stream music from your PC or laptop, has an SD card reader and USB port for a memory stick which will play stored tunes.

