Casio shows off photo printer duo

Fold out keyboards included but not pretty lady

by Katie Scott published on 20 August 2008

Photo printers are often all much of a muchness - but add a fold out keyboard and touchscreen tech and it all gets a little bit more interesting.

Introducing the PCP-1200 and PCP-250 from Casio.

Both feature fold-down keyboards, they can print at resolutions of 2400 x 1200dpi on up to A6 -sized paper, and you can also draw on your image on screen using the included stylus.

The 1200 sports a 7-inch screen, while the 250 has a 3.5-inch display.

But we are waiting to hear whether they will make it to the UK...
