Apple rejects fart joke app

Does not want to pull developer's finger

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 5 September 2008

Apple has rejected a recent iPhone application due to it being of "limited utility to the broad iPhone and iPod touch user community".

The application, created by Sam at Air-o-Matic.com, was a fart simulator that worked on the classic, never-gets-old "pull my finger" gag.

The developer is currently taking email addresses via the site for those who would like to get hold of the app unofficially:

"If you'd like to be the envy of your friends by being one of the only people in the world to be able to summon bodily noises from your iPhone, send us an email..."
