HTC Touch Diamond launches in ice white

Cool new colour

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 16 September 2008

HTC has announced that its flagship device, the HTC Touch Diamond, is now available in a new and "stunning" ice white design.

With the same feature set of the classic black Diamond, HTC says the new white model "continues the HTC tradition of combining elegant style with leading mobile technology".

Aiming the new version at the fashion crowd, the company says the white paint job "adds a touch of class that is set to impress even the most style conscious fashionistas".

As per the Diamond, the ice white model is a Windows Mobile 6.1 Professional device, boasts HTC's TouchFLO interface, 7.2Mbps HSDPA, a 2.8-inch display, a 3.2MP camera and Bluetooth.

Pricing and availability to be confirmed.
