Crumpler Gimp handle netbook case announced

Cute little bag for your Asus Eee

by Stuart Miles published on 25 September 2008

Crumpler has announced that it will be making a dedicated netbook case for the plethora of such devices available on the market.

Available in four colours, including the fetching lime green in the pictures, the cute little case will be made with the company's Chicken Tex material (don't worry, real chickens aren't used in the making of the bag) and cost around 30 euros for the 7-inch version.

The bag, part of a new range from the courier bag maker, will be called the Gimp handle and come in sizes to cater for laptops up to 17-inches.

The bag is expected to be available in the UK in the coming months.
