There have been a fare few new projector models released in recent months from Sanyo, and its new 4LCD model, through to Leica, Panasonic and Optoma with its GameTime models.

And now Mitsubishi has unveiled a new projector - the FL6900U.

For $9995 (so nearly £6000), you get 1920 x 1080 resolution, 4000 ANSI lumens brightness, an RS-232 control port, automated zoom as well as focus and digital keystone correction, and a built-in motion-sensitive anti-theft alarm (which is a good thing at that price).
