In June, we found ourselves a little gobsmacked by a pair of earphones that would set you back a whopping £3900 (plus Tax).

Each set of the "iDiamond ear" boast 204 diamonds set in 18 karat white and rose gold.

But - wait for it - we have now discovered a pair of earphones that will set you back $60,000.

Gasp...

London-based DEOS has created three different sets of ultra luxurious earphones ranging from diamond studded (for the minted), Swarovski crystals (for those with cash to splash), to aluminum encrusted, (for those with some semblance of normality in their lives).
