Desktop coffee maker launches

Firebox offers caffeinated office gizmo

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 9 October 2008

Firebox has launched the "fabulously compact, fuss-free Desktop Coffee Maker".

Complete with two mugs, this little device allows you to make your own delicious filter coffee from the comfort of your own desk.

Capable of making just two cup's worth, the device is designed to let you enjoy your dose of caffeine in peace, without having to brew up for the whole office.

Eminently portable, the Desktop Coffee Maker is available now for £19.95.
