Man mods Eee PC into his car

In-dash netbook

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 24 October 2008

A Russian hacker has ripped apart his car's dashboard and stuck an Eee PC into it.

There's a how-to gallery online showing how the little laptop was integrated into the car, but it's a fairly complicated process.

The chap added a USB touchscreen, USB Bluetooth, a USB GPS unit, USB hub, a wireless keyboard and joystick mouse to get the novel in-car computer.
