

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/18813/rxs-redshift-pico-media-projector>

RXS: RedShift launches Pico Media Projector

Pocket-sized

by Amy-Mae Elliott published on 30 October 2008

New consumer technology brand RXS: Redshift is launching in the UK with the Pico Media Projector, a pocket-sized projector.

Like similar products launched recently, the new pico offering can project images up to 50 inches in size from your phone, iPod laptop or PC.

Described as perfect for sharing photos and videos with friends, and is also angled at those who might have a need to make "ad hoc" business presentations.

It measures 11.5 x 5 x 2.2cm and weighs 160g. The rechargeable lithium ion battery is said to be good for an hour of playback time.

Complete with an iPod-compatible video cable, the Pico Media Projector is priced at £299.99 and is available from high street stores, www.rxsdevices.com and www.twistedcarbon.com.

