

<http://www.pocket-lint.com/news/19057/hpi-g-dog-robotic-dog-unveiled>

Hpi heralds a new hound - the G-Dog robot

Bounding into shops later this month

by Katie Scott published on 10 November 2008

Japanese outfit hpi showed off its G-Dog robotic dog first way back in April, but the little fella is now finally available to buy (although only in Japan for the meanwhile).

The little brother of the original GR-001 robotic pooch stands just 5.3-inches tall and features the same control unit and sensors as his big brother.

But he has a proper pedigree price of $1000, which is a rather large bite out of your savings.

